Why a Home School Agreement?

As a parent you are your child's first teacher. You play a crucial role in helping your child to learn.

Your child will achieve more when we, as a school, and you, as parents/carers, work together.

Research into how the family influences a child's success at school shows that the single most important factor is, not income or parental education but, the level of interest and involvement shown by parents/carers.
